RELIGIOUS EMBLEMS

THE "YOU" IN DUTY TO GOD AND TO COUNTRY

Scouting is not a religion, but it is religious. If we can help the boy to understand that there is a Supreme Being who is guiding us daily, caring for us, we may have implanted a seed of righteousness that will grow and mature all of his life. We sincerely hope that the parents are giving their sons a religious experience through home life.

Scouting is not a political organization, but the processes of good government, rules of conduct and law are used in the Scouting program.

As the Cub Scout strives to understand the full meaning of Duty to God and country, much of what he understands will be learned at home, at school and at Church. However, a portion of what he learns will also take place at the den meeting, the pack meeting, on a hike, riding in a car and by just plain watching YOU -- his leader.

Someone has said, "What you are speaks so loudly, I can't hear what you say!" Our personal example of Duty to God and to country will make an impression upon the Cub Scouts we are leading. As role models to boys who are seeking to learn what it means to be an adult, we have an awesome responsibility! In today's society, the Scout program is one of the few remaining places where values, attitudes, morals and citizenship -- based on the Duty to God and to country -- are taught. Cub Scout, for that matter all Scouts are watching you the leader and they do not understand double standards. Cubs expect you to be an ideal for them to look up to. If you teach one thing and do another, a lot of respect for both you and your teaching is lost.

To Do My Duty To God

"The Boy Scouts of America maintains that no boy can grow into the best kind of citizen without recognizing his obligation to God." Our attitude towards religious training should be absolutely non-sectarian, respecting the religious beliefs of others. Respecting the beliefs of others does not mean that we have to eliminate all mention of God. By all means invite Him to be a part of your pack and den adventures.

Religious Emblems/ Knots-Youth

Religious emblems in Cub Scouts are designed to help youths deepen their faith, serve others and grow toward adulthood. Requirements and emblems of recognition are developed by each religious body for its own youth. No matter the sponsoring agency -- religious, civic, philanthropic, patriotic -- young people may enroll in the emblem of their own faith and are instructed by their pastor, minister, bishop, imam, rabbi, priest or other religious counselor.

Note: Youth religious emblems are earned independent of the Scouting program and within the confines of each Religious Institution. The recognition (medal and/ or religious knot) maybe presented at the pack meeting.

Prayers

PRAYER IN CUB and PACK MEETINGS

The Boy Scouts of America requires that its members believe in a God, however it recognizes that there are many paths to God and provides a wide range of religious emblems in recognition of this. As Scouters we should be aware of the diversity of religious beliefs that exist. For this reason we should be careful in our choice of prayers at Scouting events. The use of prayers with strong denominational overtones or a strong Christian bias shows an insensitivity to the beliefs of others which we should avoid. Having said this we all know from experience how easy it is to lapse unthinkingly into a form of prayer we have been brought up with when suddenly called upon at the end of a meeting or before a meal. With this in mind, we research other members of the Scouting "Internet" for their opinions and ideas.
